HEARST BOOM IS GROWING HOURLY BAY STATE CUTS POOR FIGURE NOW

ST. LOUIS, July 6.—Late developments have only served to increase the measure of enthusiasm that has prevailed here regarding Congressman Hearst since the first of the delegates and leaders began to arrive.

A notable feature of the scenes around the Hearst headquarters yesterday was the large number of men who insisted on visiting the headquarters and appropriating a button, badge or picture of the people's candidate.

The magnitude of the Hearst boom in States that were not expected to have even a leaning toward the congressman has been the source of surprise even to the managers of the many candidates.

George Fred Williams Insists on His Right to Distribute Tickets to the Delegation—Members Visit the Fair.

By Boston American Special Writer.
HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN, ST. LOUIS, July 6.—Massachusetts delegates are in a state of excitement on the day of the opening of the convention. The promise that the fight over the unit rule would not end in meetings of the national committee, that would be carried into convention, seems about to be fulfilled.

John O'Connell, Hearst delegate from Pioneer, started the trouble when he rose to the meeting last night, which was attended by all the Hearst delegates, and asked whether or not the unit rule would prevail.

"I want to know just where you stand," said the sturdy Democrat from Pioneer.

"I want to know whether I am to be treated as a member of the national committee, or whether I am to be deprived of that privilege."

Major Collins, as chairman, deliberated over his question before answering. Then he announced: "The state convention has no superior in the district committee, and having decided for the unit rule, we will not permit it to prevail."

Mr. O'Connell appeared from the machine of the chair, but the Mayor was motioned to stand.

Mr. O'Connell withdrew.

"There is no further need of my remaining in meeting with this delegation. If I cannot vote as my constituents advised, I can at least withdraw."

Following up his bid, Mr. O'Connell left the delegation headquarters and joined the crowd that waited outside.

Mr. Williams did not offer to give up his position as a member of the National Committee. "As a national committee member," he said, "I consider that I have the right to distribute tickets to the delegates."

Mr. Williams' shoulders went up to a great height.

Major Collins was angry. Without word he turned away from the state and went in search of Fitzgerald and McCarry.

The fight was the greatest attention in the district committee for the first time since they got started. Autos were brought to the hotel, and the whole crowd moved away to the Massachusetts building.

It is a hope there is something to eat when they get to the hotel. Mr. Williams, with "Sunny Jim" Donovan, and James Sullivan, who is a member of the national committee, were the first to arrive.

SEARCHING FOR THE BODY OF BURNS.

A pair of shoes, which may have been brought to Burns, have been found near the supposed scene of the crime. They are of the type worn by a good number of persons that exposure has rotted the upper leather. They are No. 8, the size worn by Burns.

That Burns was murdered and did not disappear of his own accord is generally accepted. There are, however, some who believe the jewelry salesman deliberately planned to run away. One of these is George Breckenridge, of Gardner, where Burns' sweetheart, Miss Augusta Knowlton, is now living. He is a BOSTON AMERICAN correspondent.

"Burns told me that he was going out West, where a rich widow awaited him and was going to marry him," he said. He would not say whether he knew Burns, but he said he had only $5,000.

The expenses of to-day trip are paid by B. C. Clark, of this city, who has the privilege of naming the hospital day. He chose the President's name for his day.

The boy this morning was dressed jeans and a white shirt, and he was wearing a little striped blouse waist and dark knickerbockers. He had no hat when the police found him.

"Ur vicarious little friend, Miss Alice Rowcett, is still the centre of attraction in the North. Her eccentric notions are pointing in on her for all kinds and sorts of functions. She cannot accept of a party and will her characteristic good judgement and tact also disposes of the people who would like to entertain her."

Last night she was with the Brices At the theatre. Her party consisted of four. It was a small dinner, and covers were laid for just a dozen. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seave, of Beverly Farms; the Brices, Mr. and Mrs. Boston.

VESSELS OVER AGAIN

By Boston American Local Wire.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Reminiscences of the old days of the blockade of the North by the Federal Navy are coming from other ports to the world, the local force being wholly unprepared.

The local board, consisting of Generals Ames, Duane and Thomas H. Barrett, and the local board of the Navy, are now at the State at 10 to 30 days being closed round the coast. The largest of the vessels are being sent to the coast with the service that is partly for the purpose of the blockade of the coast. The vessels are at least 100 miles from the coast within two weeks.

The Sautercket, long at present in cludes Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bigelow Williams and Dr. Harold Williams. The Henry Uphams, who go there every Summer, have been obliged to defer their departure on account of the illness of Mrs. Upham.
